

ECON 4910 Senior Thesis Research

Instructor: Prof. Zhang Junsen (jszhang@cuhk.edu.hk)

The senior thesis provides the opportunity for students to integrate their knowledge and skills with research on a specific topic. It is designed to help senior undergraduate students to conduct independent research. The teacher will guide the students to go through the whole process of doing research such as literature search, literature review, finding an appropriate research angle and research topic, carrying out theoretical and empirical work, etc. Students and the teacher will meet regularly to discuss each step of the research process. Students are expected to complete their thesis at the end of the semester.

Assessment is 100% based on the quality of the completed thesis.
